Dear Josh,

(my staff)
We have had an opportunity to study the descriptive booklet on SUMEX you kindly sent us. At this stage, and at our present level of technical activities, WHO itself could probably not contribute very much, nor benefit greatly from the excellent facility described with respect to the artificial intelligence component as I understand it. We do see, however, great usefulness in having access to biological research information which will be part of the data base SUMEX will use. I should like to take these matters up with you when you are here in January.

With all good wishes,

Yours sincerely,

Martin Kaplan
